

Children & Finance - Fountain Mediation

Children

Everyone wants what is best for their children. When separating it can be hard to reach agreement about what that means. People struggle with how to keep their disagreements away from the children to protect them. Research shows that children are happy and arrangements work better when they are agreed between the adults.

Finance

Whether you're married or living together couples often have some shared financial arrangements: bank accounts, property, savings, investments or often debts. Deciding where and how each of you should live can seem a huge problem. Mediation can help you sort out your arrangements in a way which suits you both.
